MAYOR'S ADDRESS.

Gentlemen of the City Council:—We enter to-day upon a new municipal year, and in view of the protecting care which has so wonderfully sustained and prospered us in the years that have passed, it is meet that our thanks should be offered to "Him who doeth all things well."

The cloud of war has not yet been removed from over our beloved country, and we in common with other communities feel its reflective results, in a thinning of our numbers and an increase of our expenditures. Yet we have borne our full burden, and met every call of the general government with alacrity and despatch. Those who have gone out from us, nobly daring all in their coun try's hour of need, are earning for themselves and our city names "that were not born to die." While, despite the many unavoidable obstacles that always embarrass the financial part of so gigantic a struggle, we have been able to meet fully all wants of a monetary nature. This, too, has been accomplished while suffering no local interest requisite to the prosperity, encouragement or progress of the community to feel the want of proper support. Let us, therefore, humbly request that the Divine watchfulness may still continue to be our shield, and that at an early day peace with all its attendant blessings may again smile on our beloved country.

Called again by the favor of my fellow citizens to the onerous charge of still farther conducting our municipal affairs, I enter upon the discharge of the duties devolving upon me, with a full determination to act not merely with reference to the present, but also to the future honor and perpetuity of the government. From you, who are to share with me this responsible labor, I shall confidently expect whatever assistance and advice may be necessary to its prompt and faithful performance. To many of you, from long familiarity, the necessary course of procedure will be plain; while to others the field is new and untried. But confident that in our labors we shall be harmonious and successful, I will now avail myself of this occasion to invite your attention to some of the topics that will come before you for discussion and decision.

FINANCES.

Leading in importance, the Finances of the city will require a great deal of care and discretion, not only that the amount raised be limited to the lowest sum practicable, but also that we avoid anything narrow or illiberal. Let us be neither parsimonious nor extravagant, but ever have the means proportionate to the desired result. The system introduced during the past year of funding a portion of the city debt, has been carried to the full extent provided for at its conception. So happy has been the working of the scheme, that the late Council has taken the preliminary steps towards pursuing a like course with the subsequent accumulation.

The 149 men which our city was entitled to furnish to fill its quota of the call of July last, have all been obtained, together with a very satisfactory margin in our favor for the present requisition. We now stand in advance of the President's last call for 500,000 men, about 70 accepted recruits. This enviable position substantially meets our assignment of the last call for 300,000, and allows no other city or town in the State to take precedence of us in energy or patriotism. Immediately upon the official declaration that our quota was full, I commenced with renewed zeal the work of preparing for any future requirements. Many other cities and towns hesitated on account of exceptions to the practice, that however well taken in a legal point of view, were not by myself considered weighty enough to offset the enormous advantages obtained by seasonably procuring a balance in our favor. The result justified my expectations, and I have succeeded to the extent already shown.

Our expenditure for the call of July, with the excess now standing to our credit upon the present, will be about $70,000. The payment to our own citizens of a larger bounty than that allowed by law to volunteers at large, has swelled the amount, but I believe the general satisfaction manifested in consequence, is a sufficient guarantee of the justice of the action.

HIGHWAYS.

The general condition of our streets and highways is good. A firm and commodious wooden bridge has been completed at the upper part of the city, called the Snell Bridge, and one at Bellamy Mills. There is also one in process of construction at Whittier's Falls, that will be completed this winter. Our expenses in this department have been large, in consequence of the carrying away of four bridges and considerable damage to others, by the freshet of last spring. We shall at an early date be obliged to rebuild the one at Watson's Falls. I have some thoughts upon this subject of Highways, the result of considerable personal examination, that I shall take an early opportunity of placing before you.

POOR DEPARTMENT.

The demand upon the city for aid to the poor during the last year, notwithstanding the increased price of the necessaries of life, has evinced a decided improvement in this branch of the public expenditure. This is owing in part to the heavy disbursement of State aid to soldiers' dependants; but very much should be attributed to the untiring efforts of the Overseer, and to the strict rule adopted by him in dispensing the amount allotted his department. Mr. and Mrs. Caswell have been continued at the Alms House, and have discharged to the entire satisfaction of those having the oversight of the institution, the responsible duties of master and matron. I have no particular change to recommend in the management of this province.

FIRE DEPARTMENT.

The report of the Engineers represents the Fire Department to be generally in a satisfactory condition. The power and efficiency of the organization, however, has suffered materially from the military drain upon our population. The committee of investigation, consisting of the full board of engineers, appointed at my last year's suggestion, report in favor of introducing Steam Fire Engines. Being still of the opinion that the true interests of the city will be served by an early substitution of steam for hand labor, I would again ask your attention to the subject.

SCHOOLS.

Next in place, but first in importance, our public schools demand the most tender care and constant vigilance. All of the power of Northern adaptation, and much of the well known thrift of our people, is owing to the wise forethought of our forefathers in making the school-house one of the first buildings to be erected at the public expense. To maintain the high character for usefulness for which our school organization has heretofore been distinguished, we must afford a liberal aid and support.

POLICE DEPARTMENT.

A well regulated and efficient Police forms the best conservator of the public peace and good order of society.

So far as my observation has extended, I am led to believe that the conduct of our Police has been uniformly prompt in action and courteous in character.

A thought in regard to a subject of considerable local importance, now suggests itself to my mind. At various times during the several years that I have been connected with the city government, the evident want of care shown to, and the dilapidated state of, the older town records now in the City Clerk's office, has seemed to me to be a matter worthy of some action on our part. In many of the musty old tomes so negligently turned over to "decay's effacing fingers," much information in regard to our early settlement, that goes back to the palmy days of the tomahawk, may be found recorded in the quaint style of our fathers. And although we now act in the "living present," it still seems to me that a proper regard for the value of town archives of so ancient a date, should warrant us in caring properly for them. Many of the volumes need rebinding, and one or two of the earliest should be plainly and accurately transcribed.

I believe, gentlemen, that I have now briefly given you an accurate synopsis of the last year's municipal business. I might, at the expense of being tedious, enter more elaborately into the subject, but many of you are familiar with the details, and a short but comprehensive statement seems to be all that is required.

In conclusion, allow me to hope that firm faith in God, and an unwavering trust in our country's destiny, may guide and control our actions.

REPORT OF THE CHIEF ENGINEER.

To his Honor the Mayor and Aldermen of the City of Dover:

GENTLEMEN:—Agreeably to the requirements of a City Ordinance, I herewith submit my annual report of the condition of the Fire Department, a list of the officers, with the number and condition of Reservoirs, and the number of fires and alarms.

The subject of introducing Steam Fire Engines into the Department, was brought before the City Council the past year, and they passed a resolution requesting the Board of Engineers to visit Manchester and Boston, to examine the different classes of Steam Fire Engines, and make all necessary inquiries, and report upon the expediency of introducing Steamers into the Department.

In compliance with the above resolution, the Board of Engineers visited the above named places, and after examining the different classes of Steamers and making all the necessary inquiries, we were unanimous in recommending the city to introduce steam at their earliest convenience, it being, in our opinion, more efficient and economical.

At a meeting of the City Council in January, they passed a resolution authorizing the Mayor and Chief Engineer to contract for one first and one second class Steamer. In compliance with the above resolution, the contract was made, to be delivered as soon as they could make them, which will be about the first of June.

In my report last year I recommended the purchase of 500 feet of Hose. As the change from hand Engines to Steamers was contemplated, I deferred the purchase of Hose until the change was made. It will be necessary to purchase 1000 feet the present year.

Respectfully submitted,
